

FRED W. JONES MURDERS HIS WIFE THEN KILLS HIMSELF AT MT. VERNON

Promoter of Traction Line Uses Pistol With Awful Result at Noon Today.

CONTRACTOR HAD PACKED UP TO LEAVE HOME

Angered at Threats of Arrest Caused by Abuse When Drinking, Man Entered House Shot Wife Through Head and Turned Pistol Upon Himself.

Fred W. Jones, one of Mt. Vernon's best known men, promoter of the proposed trolley line from Mt. Vernon to Johnstown, and father of Fred R. Jones, who has done considerable engineering work for the Baltimore & Ohio railway company in Newark and vicinity, murdered his wife and then killed himself at his home in Mt. Vernon at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Details of the shocking double tragedy are wired by the Advocate's Mt. Vernon correspondent:

Mt. Vernon, O., April 19.—Liquor caused a double tragedy in this town this noon, when Fred W. Jones, son of the late G. A. Jones, shot his wife through the head, killing her instantly at her home in West High street, following the murder with immediate suicide with the same pistol.

There has been more or less trouble in this family for a long time, due to Mr. Jones' heavy drinking and affairs culminated today when Jones packed up his effects and prepared to leave home. Jones stepped out of the house and then came back and shot his wife as she was talking to her brother-in-law. As the bullet entered her brain, death came instantly. Before anyone present had opportunity to realize what was happening, Jones turned the pistol upon himself and ended his own life.

Just prior to the tragedy, Jones became abusive and he was angered when threats of calling a policeman were made.

Mr. Jones was 53 years of age and his wife, who was a Millersburg woman, was 50 years old. They have several children, among them Fred R. Jones, who is well known in railway circles at Newark, and two or three daughters who are prominent in Mt. Vernon society.

Mrs. Jones was formerly Miss Al mira Wholf, daughter of David Wholf, one of the most prominent business men of Millersburg until his death a few years ago.

Medina, O., April 19.—George Frost, a well to do farmer, is in the county jail today charged with the murder of his wife. The latter died yesterday afternoon and claimed before death that her husband had shot her after a quarrel yesterday morning. There were no witnesses to the tragedy.

Beef Investigation.

Chicago, April 19.—Thirty new subpoenas have been issued for secret service agents and additional men wanted by the federal government jury as witnesses in the investigation of the packing industry. Evidence today convinced the attorneys that certain witnesses whose testimony is urgently desired are about to leave the city. Forthwith subpoenas were issued and secret service men were sent to watch them to prevent departure.

Zorhurst Arrested.

Sandusky, April 19.—Former Customs Collector Zorhurst was arrested this morning on indictments charging having obscene literature in his possession and criminal libel. The charges grow out of political differences with Collector Judson and other political troubles.

RADIUM CURE

For Cancer is Being Tried in New York With Good Results.

New York, April 19.—Experiments under way at Flower hospital indicate that by a certain application of radium, cancer can be cured. An effective method of the application of radium was discovered by Hugo Lieber, a noted chemist of this city. He has succeeded in dissolving radium and the solution exerts all the activity of pure radium. An aged woman who was slowly dying of a cancer on her foot consented to experimental treatment two weeks ago. The results so far are highly satisfactory.

HOCH IS ON TRIAL

Chicago, April 19.—Johanna Hoch, the confessed bigamist and alleged wife murderer, was taken before Judge Kersten today to stand trial on the charge of having killed one of his wives, Marie Welker Hoch. The court immediately proceeded to select a jury. Big crowds are in attendance. Hoch was reintroduced yesterday, a flaw in the old indictment having been found.

The bayonet of the new army rifle is to be four inches longer than the one now in use.

AIDING RUSSIANS

Japanese Claim France Has Violated
Neutrality—Official Action Not Yet Been Taken.

London, April 19.—Japanese diplomats and others in this city regard the reported breach of neutrality on the part of France in allowing the Russian second Pacific squadron to remain over time on the Cochin Chinese coast as one of the most serious developments of the situation. Minister Hayashi and Baron Suematsu, former Japanese minister of the interior, were both disinclined to give a hasty expression of opinion or to anticipate official advice giving the facts as to the period the Russian ships may stay in French waters. Minister Hayashi was particularly reticent, and said he preferred to await confirmation of the reports, which have appeared to indicate a serious breach of neutrality. Baron Suematsu, who took a view that was very far from being alarmist, said that if the reports were true Japan would have good cause to complain. Japan, however, had no intention of picking a quarrel with France, and added: "Japan is far from covering Cochin China, as has been imputed in some quarters. I don't think that France is encouraging the Russian squadron to misuse French friendship."

Baron Hayashi, Japanese minister, expressed the opinion that Admiral Togo would not give battle to Admiral Rojestvensky with his entire squadron, but would continue the cautious tactics which characterized his attacks on the Port Arthur squadron, not because he feared defeat, but owing to his desire to inflict the greatest amount of damage on the Russians with the least loss to himself. While confident of his ability to accomplish the total destruction of the Russian squadron in a big battle, there is the danger of Togo losing one or two of his big ships. Therefore, Baron Hayashi believes Togo will employ his torpedo boats and torpedo-boat destroyers, which number more than 100, and are vastly superior to the Russian torpedo flotilla, in harassing the Russians, while gradually picking off the Russian warships. He said the coasts of Japan, Korea and Formosa lend themselves to night work with torpedo boats, while the narrow channels will make the maneuvering of large warships difficult and dangerous.

ROJESTVENSKY'S PLANS.

Tokyo, April 19.—Information received here is taken to indicate that the Russian squadron proposes staying at Kamrapp bay until May 7, Admiral Rojestvensky in the meanwhile sending out cruisers to overhaul merchantmen proceeding along the trade route to the straits of Formosa.

NEW JAP BOAT LAUNCHED.

Tokyo, April 19.—The Japanese boat Kiji was launched at Kure this morning. The vessel is over 200 tons.

Washington, April 19.—Rear Admiral Train, commanding the Asiatic station, reports this morning from Manila that he has placed various vessels of his fleet at important points along the Philippine Islands for the purpose of observing the movements of Russian and Japanese vessels and securing compliance with the neutrality laws.

Daughters of the Republic.

Washington, April 19.—Mrs. Fred T. Dubois, wife of Senator Dubois of Idaho, was elected president of the national society of Daughters of the American Republic, which is holding its annual meeting here. Mrs. Dubois succeeds Mrs. Burrows, wife of Senator Burrows of Michigan, who because of ill health and other reasons is unable to serve longer as president.

The Trappist monks of Algiers have sold their buildings and land, and like most of the persecuted French orders, have gone to Italy.

CARNEGIE'S NIECE

Weds Mother's Coachman But News is Kept a Secret by the Family for a Year.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 19.—It has just become public that Miss Nancy Carnegie, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Thomas Carnegie and a niece of Andrew Carnegie, was married about a year ago to James Hever, formerly her mother's coachman. The couple returned Sunday from abroad with their baby daughter, who was born on the other side. The couple were met at the pier in New York by Mrs. Hever's family and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie. They went to Andrew Carnegie's home. The report that there was serious estrangement in the family over the romantic marriage was denied by Mr. Carnegie himself, who told the newspapermen Hever was industrious and well behaved, more preferable for a husband than a good-for-nothing nobleman of Europe. The couple determined to live quietly and contentedly with the means they have. Mrs. Hever got only a moderate sum in the will of her father. The couple met five years ago. Hever is of Irish family, is educated, and is 35 years old. The wife is pretty and 24. They were married by a Catholic priest although the Carnegies are Episcopalians. Hever had a riding academy at New York and is rated as a man of common sense.

BEFRIENDED

The Tramp Whose Death Revealed His Wealth and She Will Cash a
$5,000 Note.

Rochester, N. Y., April 19.—Surrogate Benton has upheld as valid a note for $5,000 made to Maggie Mattice by George Washington Todd, widely known as a tramp, whose death revealed he possessed an estate worth $60,000.

At one time Maggie Mattice gave Todd shelter, and while in her house he accidentally killed her pet canary. Todd tried to assuage her grief by writing her a note for $5,000. She regarded it as a joke, but kept the note, and when the secret of Todd's wealth was revealed, presented her claim against the estate.

Todd made annual pilgrimages about the country, wheeling his belongings in a barrel. He left a trail of promissory notes to people who befriended him. Those who kept them now stand a chance of realizing their face value.

CUT OFF BY WALL

Father Who Tried to Save His Children, but Seven Perished in the Flames.

Quebec, April 15.—At Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, near this city, seven members of one family lost their lives and their mother is so seriously burned and her life is despaired of. Charles Boncher, a prosperous farmer, with his wife and eight children, retired as usual. He was aroused by the agonized cries of his little ones. He found himself cut off by a wall of fire from the portion of the house where they slept.

The mother rushed from the house, but, maternal instincts conquering, she returned to save her little ones. Her attempts proved futile and her hair was burned off. The husband ran for help, but when he returned it was too late.

Anna, aged 18, the eldest daughter, died like a heroine in trying to save her little brothers and sisters. The youngest child was 18 months old. The mother was found unconscious at the door of a room which was in flames, and a late report says she is in a precarious condition. The house was entirely destroyed. The fire was so far advanced when help came that it was impossible to save the lives of any of the children.

BEAR AND CAT

Killed By President in Hills of Colorado State

COURIER ARRIVES FROM CAMP

He Dwells Enthusiastically Upon the Chief Magistrate's Prowess as a Sportsman.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., April 19.—President Roosevelt has killed a bear and a bob cat. He is satisfied with his hunt for the biggest game the Rockies afford. If he gets one more bear or several he will be better pleased, but to quote his own words, "I got what I was after. It was bully sport, and I hope it keeps up."

This is the story brought to Secretary Loeb by Elmer Chapman, a courier with a close mouth, who was chosen to bear messages between the president and the temporary seat of government at the Hotel Colorado in this city. While he came through Newcastle, where ate camped numerous correspondents of newspapers, he brought his story intact. There was no leakage, and all information obtained at that place was from the view of a closely rolled fresh bear-skin which Chapman transferred from his saddle to the car at the railway station. "Is that all you've got?" he was asked. "Isn't that enough?" he replied.

This was about the substance of the conversation in which Chapman participated at Newcastle. He was chosen because he knows when not to talk. Before starting on his hunt the president said he did not want any newspaper men to follow him. To three correspondents representing press associations who accompanied him from Washington the president said: "You stick by Loeb and I will help you all I can. I can not send a messenger every day, but as soon as there is anything worth telling you shall have it." The courier got through Newcastle without talking, and the president made good to those who complied with his wishes.

But if the courier was reticent at Newcastle he was different when his journey was at an end. Secretary Loeb had removed the injunction of secrecy. His eyes kindled with a fire that told of his admiration for the president's prowess as a hunter more than could the words at his command. One expression which the hardy mountaineer injected into his story was, "Say fellows, he's a beauty, and no mistake. The way he scents game would make you think he was born in the mountains and had never left them."

PLEDGE

Of Abstinence Signed by More Than a Thousand Men in One Night—Crusade at Freeland, Pa.

Freeland, Pa., April 19.—This town, notorious as a liquor oasis in a "dry" region many miles square, has just experienced a temperance revival, which may produce results aimed at for years by the Millionaire Cox family, the owners of the mines hereabouts. Father Dominic, a Jesuit priest, has brought about the new order of things, and at one meeting alone he induced more than 1,000 miners and others to take the pledge to abstain from intoxicants.

In this little town, with half a dozen general stores and scarcely 100 dwellings, there are 148 saloons, and to this oasis thousands of miners are attracted nightly from all corners of the prohibitory Cox area. Father Dominic, however, has changed all this, and the saloon men are selling out because trade has fallen off. The Cox estate managers are taking advantage of the temperance crusade to buy out as many saloons as possible and are hopeful of ultimate getting control of every foot of land.

RIOTOUS SCENES

Mark a Republican Congressional Convention at Rockport, Indiana.

Rockport, Ind., April 19.—The Republican nominating convention to select a candidate for congress to succeed United States Senator James A. Hemenway, former representative from the first district, adjourned in a state of riot without agreeing upon a candidate. Chairman Durre's gavel was snatched from him, furniture was broken, books and missiles were thrown and several physical encounters took place. The supporters of John W. Brady of Princeton, who secured possession of the chairman's gavel, declared the convention adjourned to meet at Princeton next Saturday, while supporters of George A. Cunningham of Evansville, the opposing candidate, through their chairman declared the convention adjourned to meet at Evansville Saturday morning.

CHUM

Of the Cincinnati Female Prisoner
Nabbed as She Left the Ohio Penitentiary.

Columbus, O., April 19.—Anna Wilson, said to be one of the cleverest thieves in the country, was arrested at the gates of the Ohio penitentiary yesterday as she walked out to liberty after completing a four years' term for larceny from Dayton. She was seized at the request of the Chicago police. She is wanted there for a jewelry robbery.

Her method has been to hire herself as a servant in wealthy households, where she could gain access to treasures. She has committed robberies in Chicago, St. Louis, Rochester, N. Y., and in this city. While an inmate of the state prison she was taught lace making by Mrs. Adam Sheehan Hoffman, a federal prisoner from Cincinnati, and has become so expert that her output sold for high prices. She had $200 worth of lace when she was released.

SHOT GIRL

Then Smedes Tried to Kill Himself With Pistol

MEMBERS "SCHOOL GIRL" CO.

Woman May Die as She is Shot Near Heart—She Was About to Leave Smedes.

Philadelphia, April 19.—Because she intended leaving the theatrical company of which both were members, Edward Smedes shot Dottie Helen Davis, at a theatrical hotel where they were both staying, inflicting a probable fatal wound near the heart and then attempted to kill himself. The bullet flattened against his skull and he was not badly hurt. The couple were members of the chorus in "The School Girl" company, of which Edna May is the star. The woman is known on the stage as Bessie Dale. She is 23 years old and her home is in Hebron, Neb. Smedes' home, it is believed, is in Vicksburg, Miss.

The shooting occurred shortly after noon. Other guests of the hotel heard a pistol shot and immediately after Miss Davis ran screaming down the stairs and fell unconscious into the arms of a servant. A policeman, who was passing the hotel, ran into the place and when Smedes saw him he turned the weapon upon himself. The wounded couple were taken to a hospital, where it was found the young woman's injury is likely to prove fatal. Smedes is guarded in the hospital by two policemen.

The couple arrived at the hotel on Sunday and registered as Mr. and Mrs. Smedes. Yesterday Miss Davis obtained a position with a company now rehearsing at one of the local theatres, she intending to leave "The School Girl" company. She was at the theatre in the forenoon rehearsing with the new company when Smedes gained admittance to the play house and sought an engagement. He failed to obtain it. Seeing Miss Davis on the stage he went to her and threatened to shoot her if she joined the new company. He was ordered from the place and Miss Davis went with him. They returned to the hotel, and it is believed renewed their quarrel, which resulted in the shooting.

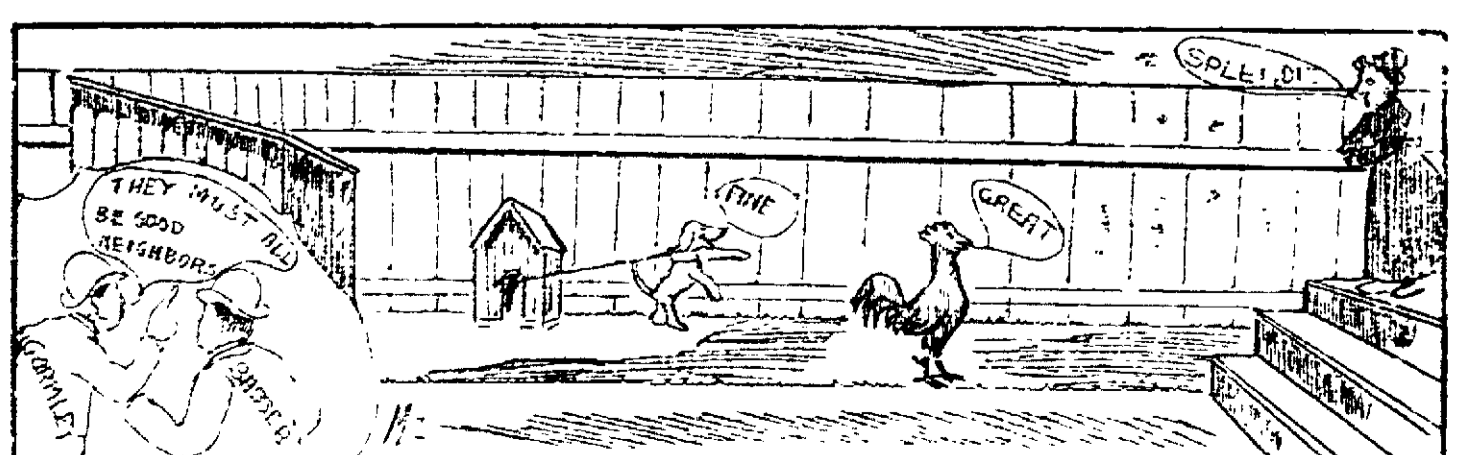

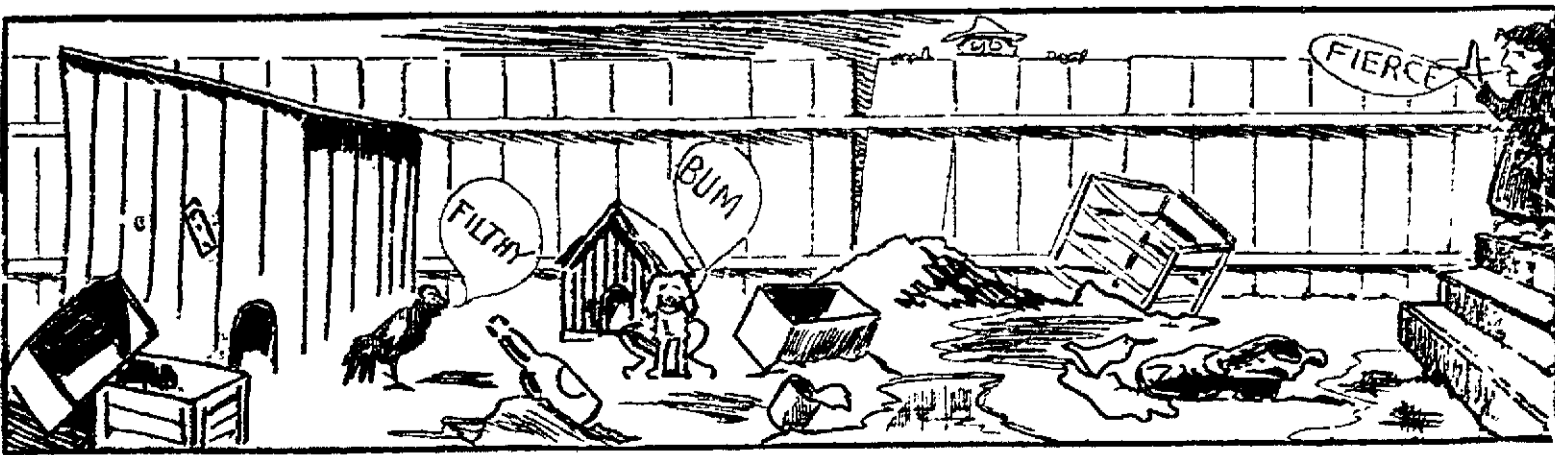

On the bureau in the room was found a note written by Smedes, which read:

"To those who know and meet my mother, help to sustain and keep her." A letter addressed to Mrs. E. M. Smedes, Vicksburg, Miss., and one addressed to Miss Davis' mother at Hebron, were also found in the room. The police have not opened them.

IMMIGRATION BILL

Duly Introduced in the British House of Commons by the Home Secretary.

London, April 19.—Home Secretary Aker's Douglas introduced another aliens bill in the house of commons. It is much on the lines of last year's measure, which the government dropped on account of obstruction. The secretary in introducing the bill commented on the increasing numbers of undesirable immigrants arriving in Great Britain. He said the government was determined to deal with this organized traffic. According to the measure's provisions, immigrants may be refused permission to land if unable to show that they are in a position to obtain means to keep themselves decently, if insane, or if, on account of disease or other causes, they are likely to become a charge on the taxpayers. The bill, however, provides that an alien shall not be refused permission to land on account of want of means if able to prove that he or she is seeking admission to Great Britain solely to avoid prosecution for political offenses.

ALL REALLY GOOD NEIGHBORS CLEAN THEIR YARDS IN SPRING SAYS THE HEALTH OFFICER, DR. DAY.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee. Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful of each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

- 1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.
- 2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.
3. (Don't boil it too long. Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving. Don't use water that has been boiled before.)

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

- 1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.
- 2d. With Cold Water. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.) (Lion-head on every package.) (Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

NEWARK HIGH READY FOR MEET

OLD DENISON HAS GREAT BALL TEAM

PROSPECTS ENCOURAGING FOR NEWARK TO MAKE GOOD SHOWING IN JUNE.

FASTEST GRANVILLE COLLEGE HAS TURNED OUT FOR NUMBER OF YEARS.

Material on Hand to Furnish Representatives in Each Event—Captain and Manager to be Elected.

Strong Point is Base Running—Weber is the Stick Artist—Outlook is Very Promising.

The members of Newark High school are all excited over the proposed track meet arranged for this city in June. An invoice has been taken of the material on hand and it is found that a very creditable track team can be put out for the meet. Sprinters, jumpers and weight throwers can all be secured from the school. Physical director G. M. Pinneo of the Y. M. C. A., has consented to do the coaching for the team and under his supervision the men should make a good showing. A meeting will be held today showing, when the captain of the track team will be elected and a manager chosen to represent the team in the business end of the events. If the proposition is received as well in each High school as it was received in Newark, no doubt the greatest interscholastic track meet ever held, will be pulled off at Idlewild, June 3.

NEWARK AT GRANVILLE.
The Newark High baseball squad took a trolley ride to Granville Tuesday afternoon to furnish a little sport to the Denison bunch and incidentally get a little practice themselves. They went, of course with the expectation to be defeated, but the team could have scored if they had played the game properly. Captain Chambers had two pitchers whom he wanted to put up against a bunch of college batters, so Newark was loaned two men. Both were pretty fair, but Erler was slow and lacked head work in the field. That however, was not responsible for the one-sided score, 15 to 0. Newark played like a bunch of clothespins.

The men played fairly well for two or three innings, but got tired and some went to sleep. The rough out-field was responsible for many errors by Newark's gardeners. Blood and Speer both fell after getting under a high fly. Newark meets Granville next Saturday morning at Granville. Another victory will be added to the string of games won, which, ere the season closes will be a long one.

For Coshocton is Latest Report—Salaried Team Goes to Smash and Only Am. Ball to be Played.

Coshocton, April 19—The death knell to the prospects for a salaried baseball team in Coshocton was sounded yesterday when a letter was sent to "That Troy of Wheeling" notifying him that efforts to secure subscriptions had fallen short and that further attempts would be useless.

While enough supporters were found to guarantee a goodly sum of money the amount was not deemed sufficient to justify the promoters in going ahead with the organization of a team.

EXPERT IS DEFEATED

Messrs. Wetzel and Davis Won Pool Contest from Weston by Score of 107 to 100.

The pool contest, Tuesday night between the expert, Chas. Weston and Messrs. Wetzel and Davis, was again lost by Weston with a score of 107 to 100, Weston having agreed to play 125 points to his opponents' 100. He started his side of the game easily, giving his opponents a good start, expecting by a few fine shots to catch up and beat them, but they were permitted to have too much of a start and reached the 100 points as Weston made his 107. The contest was interesting and a large number of spectators watched the game.

Weston will not play here tomorrow night, but will return next week and play his old opponents Dr. Miller and Joseph Hupp at the Union Cafe.

COSHOCTON GIRL

As Well as Old Man Bound by Robbers
Who by Torture Secured Over Five Thousand.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 19.—Not until George Geogline, an old German citizen living alone on the Bridgeport pike near Brookside, appealed in tears to his son in Benwood for the loan of $100 did the fact become known that he was tortured by masked robbers and relieved of $5,500 Sunday morning.

Four men broke open his door with a hickory log and found him in bed. They wore black masks. Geogline, who is 74 years old, screamed for help and the men pulled him out of bed, gagged him and fastened him to the floor. Then they beat him in an effort to make him reveal the hiding place of his money.

While two of the men abused him the other pair searched the room and found a tin box containing $5,500 in bank notes and gold and silver coin. The old man had no confidence in banas and kept his savings on his own premises.

His housekeeper, a girl whose home is in Coshocton, O., answered his cries, but upon entering the room was also seized and gagged. There are some suspicious circumstances connected with the case, and the police are making a thorough investigation. Geogline's injuries were severe.

AGENTS PETITION

WANT EQUITABLE POLICY HOLDERS IN SOCIETY DIRECTORATE.

To Memorialize Legislature—Committee is Named—Support is Pledged to the Officers.

New York, April 19.—After a session at the Hotel Savoy, lasting for nearly six hours, the 200 managing agents of the Equitable Life Assurance society from all parts of the United States adopted resolutions asking the New York state legislature to exercise its plenary power by enacting an amendment to the society's power. This amendment is to give the policy-holders admission to the directorate of the society.

The resolutions also provide that a committee consisting of one manager from every state in the Union and one from Canada, together with all the managers in New York city, should be named to visit Governor Higgins and Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks and secure their assistance in getting the legislature to act in the matter. This committee, representing the whole country, will be designated before the agents finally adjourn.

The session was replete with developments. Several sets of resolutions were adopted. President Alexander made a brief speech. Vice President Hyde followed him, and in the course of his remarks referred to the sale by Second Vice President Tarbell of the latter's interest in the renewal account to the Equitable company, which brought forth a sharp retort from Mr. Tarbell. Then all three officers left the meeting and the agents devoted their time to discussion behind closed doors.

The first set of resolutions which came out declared that the agents pledged their "unqualified support" to president Alexander, and expressed their "entire confidence that the president will continue unfalteringly and push the work of mutualization that he has so courageously begun." There was no reference in any of the resolutions to Mr. Hyde. Resolutions were adopted by the agents giving their "unqualified approval of the firm stand taken by Vice President Tarbell in support of the president on the mutualization issue." The Tarbell resolution was introduced by E. A. Woods of Pittsburgh.

The Frick committee on investigation was commended in another resolution, and this committee was urged to be prompt in a searching, impartial investigation of the company's affairs, the hope being expressed that the result would be the means of "placing the society on a firm foundation and restoring public confidence." Senator Brackett, speaking of the Equitable on the floor of the state senate at Albany said: "It is now conceded by every one connected with the nasty mess that there has been the most extravagant waste of corporation money. The corporation is under the same control now. The scene has so far shifted that whereas the contest in this company began over the control of its millions, it is likely presently to take the form of a race to see who can keep out of state's prison."

Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses and heals the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and cures Catarrh easily and pleasantly. Cold in the head vanishes quickly. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail.

Catarrh caused difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Atty at Law, Monmouth, Ill. mw4f

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

RAILWAY MATTERS

Italian Railway Strike.

Rome, April 19.—The strike situation is worse at Milan, Naples and Foggia. At Milan general industries are feeling the effect of the railway strike in causing a scarcity of coal. The supply of meat is also very low at Naples and Genoa. Marquis Nicolini, mayor of Florence, has issued an address to the citizens of that place urging them to discontinue strikers and extend their assistance to those railway men who have continued at their places. The marquis suggests a public subscription for these men, not so much to compensate them for their course as to give evidence of approval of their conduct. In a number of the larger cities several arrests have been made of strikers who threatened violence against railway men who did not strike.

Newcastle, Ind., April 19.—Sanford W. TWO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN WHO ESCAPED SPRING CATARRH BY TAKING PE-RU-NA.

Spring Fever is Spring Catarrh=Nothing Robs One of Strength Like Spring Catarrh.

MISS ESTELLE CAMPBELL.

Miss Estelle Campbell, 140 N. High street, Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"Peruna helped me when almost everything else failed. I was rundown from overwork, as I had not been able to take a vacation for three years and naturally my nerves were all unstrung and I was greatly in need of rest and a tonic. I went away for two months, but did not seem to get my strength back, although I was taking a prescription which the doctor gave me before I went away.

"At the request of my relatives, with whom I was visiting, I began to use Peruna, and you cannot realize how glad I was when within a week I found I was feeling so much better. Inside of a month I was feeling splendidly, ready and able to take up my work again."—Estelle Campbell.

A Spring Tonic.

Almost everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question.

We have on file thousands of letters which testify to the curative and preventive value of Peruna in cases of nervous depression and run down conditions of the system. We quote a typical case:

Mr. Frank Williams, 3935 34th street, New York City, member First Presbyterian Church and Captain Capitol Golf Club, writes:

"Last spring I suffered with malaria and a run down condition which seemed very difficult to overcome.

"I tried several different tonics but did not seem to get much better until I began using Peruna. My recovery was slow, but I was improving and I was glad to continue using it.

"At the end of two months my health was restored and I looked and felt much better than I had for years. Your remedy is well worthy of a recommendation and I am pleased to give it mine."—Frank Williams.

Peruna never fails to prevent spring catarrh or nervous prostration, if taken in time.

Pe-ru-na is the Finest Tonic For a Weary Woman.

Miss B. Inez Silvera, 139 W. 136th street, New York City, Grand Recorder Daughters of American Independence, writes:

"Nine years of work, without a vacation, wore out my nervous system. I lost my appetite and felt weak and exhausted nearly all the time.

"Peruna restored me to perfect health in five weeks. It is the finest tonic for a weary woman that I know of. I gladly endorse it."—B. Inez Silvera.

Peruna is the most prompt and permanent cure for all cases of nervous prostration caused by systemic catarrh known to the medical profession.

MISS B. INEZ SILVERA.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature. All correspondence held strictly confidential.

LICKING LAUNDRY

AT JOHNSTOWN

A Delaware Man, John Sutton, Almost Had an Arm Torn Off Erecting a Windmill.

Delaware, O., April 18—John Sutton of Lincoln avenue, who engaged last week in erecting a new windmill at Johnstown, Licking county, came very near to having his right arm torn from his body.

Mr. Sutton, who was working on top of the derrick, was tightening up some bolts, when the sleeve of his coat caught in some unaccountable manner and before he realized the fact his arm was being slowly wound around the axle. The power was on full force, and the only thing that saved the loss of the arm was the giving away of the coat sleeve and shirt. These were torn from his body, releasing Mr. Sutton from his perilous position, but not before his arm was cut and bruised. The injured man has returned to his home in this city.

SERVICES

OF HOLY WEEK AT THE CHURCH OF BLESSED SACRAMENT.

Mass Tomorrow Morning Will Begin at 6:45—Program of Week is Here Announced.

Father Waterson's program for the exercises to be held at the church of the Blessed Sacrament in the East End, during Holy Week, are as follows:

Thursday morning masses will begin at 6:45 o'clock, after which there will be a procession of the Blessed Sacrament from the main altar through the aisles of the church to the Gospel side, or the side altar of the Blessed Virgin. This procession will be led by Father Waterson himself, accompanied by the acolytes and the children of the parish. There will be continuous adoration of the Blessed Sacrament up to 9 o'clock in the evening, and it is expected that from the time the procession reaches the repository until the closing of the church at night there will always be someone in the church, making his act of adoration. There will be special devotions in honor of the Holy Eucharist at 7 o'clock on Thursday evening.

On Good Friday morning at 6:45 o'clock the services begin with the return of the Blessed Sacrament from the repository to the main altar in procession. This is followed by the adoration of the Cross, after which will be celebrated the mass of the pre-sanctified. There will be devotions at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening to commemorate the Passion and Crucifixion.

Saturday morning the services begin at 6:45 with the blessing of the fire and incense, Paschal candle, the Easter water, followed by the mass of the day. Saturday afternoon and evening confessions will be heard.

The music during these services is all of a solemn character, suited to the occasion.

Going out of carpet business. Entire stock being sold out at cost.

Glasses to replace these will arrive from Chicago this week. Prof. Cole has given Prof. Chamberlin the use of the physical laboratory of O. S. U. where he will go to adjust the machine. While in Chicago Prof. Chamberlin will attend the Chicago Alumni reunion held there at that time.

Miss Rosalie Heisey was a guest at supper in the dining hall.

Mr. William Ackley, who is at the head of the furniture department in the Powers-Miller store, was the recipient of a genuine surprise on Tuesday evening. Mr. Ackley's mother, Mrs. Susan Ackley, had asked her son and Mr. Frank Linke, the assistant manager of the store to take supper with her, it being the anniversary of Mr. Ackley's birth. Of course the invitation was accepted and while they were at supper Mr. Ackley was notified that he was needed at home on urgent business. Thinking the house was on fire, or something had happened during his absence he hurried home and found the house in complete possession of his friends, the employees of the Powers-Miller store. To say that he was surprised is putting it mild. He was more than surprised. He however, recovered sufficiently to extend to all a cordial welcome, and then devoted himself assiduously to the task of entertaining them. Johnson's orchestra had been secured for the occasion, and after greetings had been exchanged all around, dancing was commenced and continued until a late hour, when a delicious supper was served, after which dancing was renewed and continued until after 11 o'clock, when all took their departure and left for their homes in Newark, having spent a most enjoyable evening. Mr. Ackley was the recipient of a number of useful and handsome presents, which were presented to him on behalf of the employees of the store, by Mr. Frank Linke, and consisted of a handsome card case and cards, tobacco, cuff buttons and a sum of money. The affair was a most enjoyable one throughout.

Granville Bazaar Friday.

Granville, April 19.—Through an inadvertence, the Easter bazaar was announced for Friday evening only. It should read Friday afternoon and evening, as it will open promptly at 2:30 p. m. Some real bargains will be offered and a good time is anticipated by the young people.

A HAPPY MOTHER

WEATHERFORD, TEXAS, May 14, 1934.

Before my baby was born I was in great misery. I was just able to be about but just as soon as I began to take Wine of Cardui, which had been recommended to me, I felt much better. In fact I feel that if it had not been for this medicine I would not have been strong enough to live through childbirth. But that was made comparatively easy by taking your medicine for four months before baby came. Wine of Cardui restored my health as I took it two months afterward. I cannot speak too highly of Wine of Cardui and I am glad to endorse it.

Wine of Cardui is a powerful tonic which acts on the generative organs of women, regulating menstruation and giving tone and strength to the organs which inflammation and weakness have affected. It cures nineteen out of every twenty cases of bearing-down pains or ovarian trouble. Wine of Cardui cures barrenness and aids the mother in conserving her strength for the ordeal of childbirth. After that event the Wine prevents dangerous flooding and helps mothers to quick recovery. Wine of Cardui is the one medicine a mother should use before and after childbirth. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles Wine of Cardui.

AMUSEMENTS

THE HEART OF MARYLAND.

David Belasco's most complete example of dramatic work, "The Heart of Maryland," which has met with an unexampled success for the past eight seasons in the principal American and European cities, will be the attraction at the Auditorium April 22. The story of the play and the cumulative interest of its progress and incidents have for their inspiration a woman's love, and her heroic struggle to protect and defend the man upon whom she has bestowed her affection. The most realistic and memorably effective scene yet introduced in a modern play closes the third act. In this the heroine, Maryland Calvert, in order to save her lover from pursuit—he having escaped while being led out to be shot—rushes from the old church tower and up the winding stairs into the dark heights of the belfry, and springing upon the platform, clasps the clapper of the bell swings to and fro with the alarm, and she thus saves her lover's life.

VOGEL'S MINSTRELS.

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels will appear at the Auditorium next week and will present a program which, for genuine novelty has never before been attempted by any other minstrel manager. The company is a large one and every artist has been selected with great care for his respective worth. One surprise follows another in rapid succession, from the rise to the fall of the curtain. Those who have seen the clever performers in this attraction will wish to see them again and those who have not had the opportunity of witnessing the entertainment should do so now and spend an evening of rare enjoyment, guaranteed to satisfy the most exacting amusement seeker. As marvelous Marcellites, the anatomical enigma, who has been engaged at an enormous salary. For this tour only, is alone worth the price of admission.

PINE KNOTS TO ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Just eighty-three years ago this spring, the founder of the John Robinson show started out with his little overland caravan to battle with the swamp roads and elements on his journey for fame and fortune. The gasoline lamp had not then been heard of and coal oil was expensive and hard to obtain, but the country in which he had chosen to cast his lot abounded in pine forests and each day a quantity of the pitch knots were collected, and they formed the sole means of lighting the tent, but the native came and perhaps enjoyed the performance of the riders and clowns as much as he does today, when the advance of civilization makes it possible for the circus owner to carry his own private electric light plant. In fact the John Robinson Show of this season carries two complete electric lighting plants of the most improved and modern type and the manager and his tent present a picture spectacle when the thousand or more lights in multi-colored globes are burning. This show will exhibit here on May 1.

FIRST REHEARSAL

Of Newark Chorus "Rose Maiden" Since Granville Festival Here Tuesday Evening.

The first rehearsal of the Newark chorus of the Rose Maiden, since the festival was held at the High school chapel Tuesday night. There was a good attendance and the Newark production of the Rose Maiden is expected to be even better than the one given at Granville.

Over two hundred tickets were sold by Tuesday night for the chorus in Newark.

The festival this season was a decided success, the association clearing something over $100.

This successful showing is very pleasing to the association, and is encouraging them in their faithful efforts to have yearly festivals for this part of the state. There certainly seems to be no good reason why, with the talent within such an easy grasp, and with the music lovers of Newark anxious to have good music, Granville and Newark cannot with proper support, make a showing worth while.

Prof. Judson deserves much credit for his faithful untiring efforts to make the festival a success, and when next seasons plans are announced it is felt that, although Newark was well represented at this festival, she will even do more for it the next.

COLUMBUS MAY FESTIVAL.

The May festival to be given in Columbus at the Columbus Auditorium, Goodale street, by the Columbus Oratorio Society, May 1 and 2, promises to be a most enjoyable affair. The accompaniment will be by the Ziegler Home Symphony orchestra and by Miss Jessie Cane at the piano. The admission will be 50 cents and seats may be reserved at Horney & Edmiston's book store.

THE SICK.

Miss Ethel Rex of West Church street, had a tumor removed from her right arm a few days ago.

Dennis Shaw, of 23 1-2 South Third street, is suffering with an attack of rheumatism.

Joseph Nold, an employee of the Everett glass works, is suffering with a heavy cold.

DECISION OF CIRCUIT COURT IN WATER WORKS INJUNCTION

The Water Works injunction suit, which resulted in a victory for the city officials in both Common Pleas and Circuit courts, has now been carried to the Supreme court of Ohio by the plaintiff, Charles Vadakin. The Advocate published in full the opinion of Judge Charles W. Seward of the Common Pleas court, and presents below the decision handed down by the Circuit court judges, Hon. M. H. Donahue, T. T. McCarthy and Frank Jaggart.

The State of Ohio, Licking County, ss. In the Circuit Court, March Term, (April 15th) A. D. 1935.

Judges: Hon. Maurice H. Donahue, Hon. Thomas T. McCarthy, Hon. Frank Jaggart.

Charles Vadakin, Plaintiff, vs. Andrew J. Crilly, et al. Defendants.

No. 810 (Appeal). Decision of the Court.

Donahue, Judge, (orally): Charles Vadakin et al., vs. Andrew J. Crilly, et al. The issues in this case are so well understood by Counsel and citizens generally, that it is hardly necessary to enter into any detailed statement of the issues joined.

The facts upon which this litigation are predicated are these: The City Council provided for the issue of $300,000 of what are denominated Water Works bonds. This was done in pursuance of a vote of the citizens of this city directing that that should be done; then an ordinance was passed directing the executive officers—the finance committee, mayor and auditor—to proceed with the sale of the bonds.

The bonds were advertised according to law and, at the time that these officers were to act on the bids received for the purchase of the bonds, an injunction was served upon them, restraining them from proceeding with the sale. Thereupon the bids were withdrawn and a motion was made and carried that all the bids be rejected. That was done after the bids were withdrawn by the bidders, and there were really no bids then before that committee.

A few days after that, negotiations were had by these officers with certain bond-bidders, and a sale of the bonds was negotiated at private sale; the bonds were delivered and the money paid. The money is still in the hands of the treasurer of this city, and the bonds are still in the hands of the first purchasers. This suit is brought by Vadakin for the purpose of declaring that sale a nullity, requiring the bonds to be delivered and canceled, and requiring the city officials to return the money received from the purchasers for these bonds, and not appropriate it to any other purpose.

The first contention that is made is as to the demand on the solicitor.

It is said by the defendants that there was no sufficient demand made upon the city solicitor before bringing this action. With that contention, we are thoroughly in accord. We think there was no demand upon the solicitor sufficient for the purpose. A demand made requiring the city solicitor to determine within two minutes whether he should bring the action is not the kind of a demand that is required under the statute. But while that demand was probably made in those terms, yet there was some little time given—perhaps a couple of hours and perhaps four hours. We think it is not important which it was. The time was not sufficient to, in good faith, demand an answer from the city solicitor, notwithstanding the importance of haste in this matter. But, on the other hand, we are just as firmly of the opinion that no demand was necessary to be made. If this question can be maintained at all, it is to be maintained largely upon the conduct of the solicitor himself—the part that he took in it, and the advice that he gave; and we would regard it as absolutely unnecessary to make demand upon him.

It has been held in many cases relating to private corporations that where an action is required to be brought by a stockholder in the name of the corporation that he shall make demand upon the managing officers of the concern; but when it is the managing officers that he is complaining of, and the managing officers have purchased and obtained complete control of the corporate properties and executive powers, it is idle to ask them to bring a suit to restrain or to compel them to do that which they are refusing to do.

We think that same principle of law applies in this case and that no notice was required. But we find, as a matter of fact, that no sufficient notice was given, if a notice had been required.

The next question in this case is as to the good faith of the plaintiff in bringing this action, and upon this question the Court is not a unit. A majority of the Court, however, thinks that that is one of the important questions in this case; and that if he is not bringing it as a taxpayer, in the interest of the city, and the taxpayers of the city, but is bringing it solely for the purpose of furthering private ends, and the ambitions and schemes of other men who are not in exact themselves, and bringing it with the express provision and understanding that he shall not be burdened with costs or expenses, attorney fees, or the legitimate costs incurred in court, we think that is very important to be determined, and if determined against the plaintiff, is conclusive in this case.

We think the authorities in Ohio at this time are hopelessly divided, there are good authorities on both sides of the question. We do not think the Supreme court has spoken with any certainty upon the question; and while it is insisted that in the Elyria case, in the 57 Ohio State, that question was in the case, yet a careful reading of that case fails to disclose that it was called in question by counsel or the court either; and even there the question of maintenance could not have been in the case, because of the fact that it was the Gas company itself that went into court and asserted its rights as a taxpayer, and took its chances upon paying its own legitimate costs and attorney fees.

This question of maintenance is one of grave importance in a court of equity. It is against public policy that a man shall be urged into litigation with the assurance that the necessary expenses that ordinarily make men hesitate before they annoy their neighbors with litigation should be secured to him; and we think, if a man comes into court with that sort of an arrangement, or with that agreement manifest upon the face of things, he is not in good faith; he does not come in with clean hands; he ought not to be heard in a court that he is asking to exercise extraordinary powers for his relief and for his remedy.

The authorities upon which the majority of this Court rely for maintaining their position are collected and carefully considered, and we think the whole subject is carefully considered on this side of the question, in the case of Ampt vs. Cincinnati, 50 W. L. B., page 237. The first syllabus is:

"An action commenced by a taxpayer as such, under favor of Lan. R. L. 3281 (R. 1536-668; R. S. 1778), to enjoin the operation of an alleged illegal contract entered into between the municipality and a railroad company, will be dismissed at plaintiff's costs, when it appears from the evidence that the action is not brought in good faith for the purpose of protecting the municipality, but in the interest and at the instance of a rival and competing railroad company. The privilege conferred upon taxpayers by said statute is conferred strictly in a public capacity and for the public benefit, and not to further private schemes or interests."

In the opinion on page 241, this language is used:

"It certainly should not be contended that, in considering such a case from the standpoint of equity and justice, a court of equity should ignore the time-honored and settled principles that constitute the warp and woof of its jurisdiction and shut its eyes to the obvious evils that would flow from permitting, in a case where the fact is plainly proven and openly admitted, a party to farm out, for a money consideration, to private interests and for private benefit solely, the high privilege conferred by the statute."

And again on page 243:

"The provision of the act is, that actions may be prosecuted by a taxpayer to prevent waste or injury to the property of the corporation; hence it is apparent from the language of the statute that if such is not the object of the action no power is conferred upon the court to entertain the suit."

That doctrine is supported by the 6 Nisi Prius, 82; 5 Nisi Prius, 498; 10 C. C. Rep., 642, 645; 1 Pomeroy, 297. On the other hand, there are authorities of equal respectability with these authorities that we cite, that hold that the statutory right to bring the action being once fixed and determined, the motives of the actor are in no wise important; that if he is a taxpayer he has a right to bring the action, without giving to any man a reason why he brings it.

That is a very strong reason, and is supported by the 24 C. C. Rep., 215; 15 C. C. Rep., 517, and some other authorities of equal dignity and respectability. We hope that this case will forever settle the question in Ohio. However, that may be, the judgment of this court is that if the evidence shows that this action is brought in the interest of somebody else, and not in the interest of the taxpayer, that if there is a contract of maintenance of the suit here between the Water Works company and the plaintiff, it will not inquire further in this case, but if any of the citizens or taxpayers are aggrieved by what has been done, there are many of them who can come in the interest of the city and bring it to the attention of the court for relief.

Now, what are the facts surrounding the disputed question? The evidence of Mr. Vadakin is very full, honest, and open. The evidence of Judge Jones is straightforward and manly; and the testimony of counsel in this case is straightforward enough. While there is perhaps no absolute direct evidence of a contract existing between these parties, yet it is hardly claimed to the contrary here. The first we find of Vadakin with Veach is Veach saying to Vadakin, after a consultation as to bringing this action: 'Come over to Mr. Flory's office. I have forgotten his language, but it was in reference to bringing the action. And on arriving at Mr. Flory's office he says: Mr. Flory, here is a man to sign that notice. It was evidently prepared, and waiting for the proper person to sign it. That suit was brought by the solicitor upon the demand of Mr. Vadakin. After that suit has been dismissed, and this sale of bonds has been had, a petition is prepared in the office of counsel for the Water Works company, without any consultation, as we are able to see, with Vadakin whatever, or without any information from him that he desired such a suit to be brought. After it was prepared it was sent out to him, and he signs it and swears to it; he brings it in to be filed. It appears that before bringing the suit Mr. Veach had instructed counsel to do something, whatever he thought best, to stop a sale of the bonds."

Now, we see nothing involving moral turpitude on the part of the Water Works company in this behalf. It is apparent on the face of things that it is a question of self-preservation with that company. That if this city goes on without regard to its rights and its property, and, by the establishment of a new water works, simply destroys one hundred and fifty or two hundred thousand dollars worth of its property, and renders it useless, it is about time that the men interested in it make as decided a stand as is possible in the protection of their property and their rights. It has substantial rights there, and while it is none of our business, we think that the city officers ought not to lose consciousness of the fact that they owe some consideration and some fairness to the men who have honest money invested in this enterprise. It has served you for twenty years; it came when you needed it, and you desired it; and to absolutely destroy that property and to render it absolutely valueless, to no end and to no purpose, would be unfair, even though you have the power and the right to do it.

But that is none of the business of this court. The question is, does it affect this suit in any shape or form? We think it does. We think that any ordinary man, so situated as is the Water Works corporation, would have made just such efforts as it did to preserve its property from complete annihilation, and there is nothing reprehensible about it. But it does amount to this: That Mr. Vadakin, by entering into this arrangement, which we think is apparent from the evidence, destroys his standing in court and he ought not to be heard. But with the opinion of the majority of the court, and in courtesy to our associates, and believing that this case ought to receive some further investigation, we have gone beyond that to consider the conduct of the officials and their right to sell these bonds.

The first question raised is as to the right of the officials who did make the sale to sell those bonds. I will read portions of the sections authorizing a sale of bonds, because it will be important in the further consideration of this case. "Whenever any municipal corporation issues its bonds, it shall first offer them at par and accrued interest to the trustees or commissioners, in their official capacity, of the sinking fund." That was done in this case, and no further question is raised there. The next provision is that all bonds shall be sold at not less than par and accrued interest. The next provision is that: "All sales of bonds, other than to the sinking fund, by any municipal corporation, shall be to the highest and best bidder, after thirty days' notice in at least two leading newspapers of opposite politics and of general circulation in the county where such municipal corporation is situated, setting forth the nature, amount, rate of interest and length of time the bonds have to run, with time and place of sale." And then it provides for additional notice.

"Provided, however, when any such bonds have been once so advertised and offered for public sale, and the same, or any part thereof, remain unsold, then said bonds, or as many as remain unsold, may be sold at private sale at not less than their par value, under the direction of the mayor, and the officers and agents of the corporation by whom said bonds have been, or shall be prepared, advertised and offered at public sale."

We think that is conclusive of the right of these officers to sell the bonds, provided the advertisement and offer were sufficient. We have now the question of whether there was, in fact, the advertisement and offer contemplated by the statute. Going to the question as to who were authorized or who had authority to sell these bonds, we think that all other conditions precedent having been complied with, that the officers who did sell these bonds were authorized to sell them by section 47 of the Municipal Code. But, if that is not sufficient, Section 123 certainly is. A part of said section is as follows:

"All contracts requiring the authority of council for their execution shall be entered into and conducted to performance by the board of officers having charge of the matters to which they relate and after authority to make such contracts has been given and the necessary appropriations made, council shall take no further action thereon."

So we think that the council had nothing further to do with a sale of these bonds after directing these officers to make the sale. It is claimed that there was a change in the ordinance as published, and there is some evidence to support the claim of the plaintiff in that behalf, but that there is sufficient evidence, in another question. But, we are not required at this time, and think it is absolutely unnecessary to make any finding of that kind, because the ordinance as published must obtain, and what we find there is the authority upon which we base our conclusions in this case. If that ordinance as published is sufficient, well and good. If not, the words that were left out of the publication cannot, we think, aid or add to the authority of these officers.

We now come to the question of vital importance in this case: As to the right to sell at private sale. It is undoubtedly the law of Ohio that municipal bonds may be sold at private sale after offering them by advertisement to competitive bidders. The purpose, as stated by the Supreme court of Ohio, is two-fold: One, to give publicity to the act of the officials—to what is going on in the affairs of the city; the second is, to provide for competitive bidding, in order that the highest and best bid may be had. And those being the objects, they are the guides to courts in determining whether in fact those things have been done. Upon first glance, it would seem that all that is provided for—the advertising and offering to sell at competitive bidding, had been abridged and had not accomplished the purpose of the statute and had brought no good results to the taxpayers; that it had invited competitive bidding, and at the same time had destroyed the effect of that by withdrawing the bids. But, let us see. This section says that the bonds may be sold at private sale if any part or all of them remain unsold after advertising and offering to sell at competitive bidding. Advertisement was made; competitive bids were duly received, but, owing to the service of the injunction, which, in fact, is directly traceable to Mr. Vadakin himself, those people whose bids had been filed in good faith, with a large cash deposit with the bids, were induced to withdraw before the acceptance of the bids that they made.

We think there is no question but what, at any time before the acceptance of the proposition, the man who makes the proposition may withdraw it so that the effect of it all was that, notwithstanding the advertisement, there were absolutely no bids at the time these people were called upon to act and sell the bonds to the highest and best bidder. There were no bids. The people who had made those bids, for purposes satisfactory to themselves, and serving their own interests, as they had a right to serve them, had withdrawn their bids. We think that, at any time before a bid is accepted, it may be withdrawn; that the purpose of the deposit of the money is to insure that the bonds will be taken when the bids is accepted, and not that it shall remain there for weeks or months waiting the pleasure of the board having the sale of the bonds. They were withdrawn as a matter of right, and leaving these officers without a bid to act upon. True, their hands were tied for a time, but that was not important. A suspension of the act on the part of the board from the time the injunction was served until the injunction was dissolved would not affect their right to accept the bids had the bids remained. So, they were entitled to accept any bid that had been received, but there were none there to accept. So that the advertisement was made, there were no offers received as contemplated in the statutes; no propositions were left in the hands of the board for them to accept, either at the time they were authorized under the advertisement to accept them, or later, when the injunction was dissolved, and they were then clothed with power to act, without being in contempt of court.

If they had conspired to that result in any degree whatever, the whole cause would have been attributed to them, and there would have been no offer to sell at competitive bidding. But, they were absolutely without fault or blame for any of the conditions that surrounded it. If they had been culpable in the least degree, that would perhaps charge them with all the wrongs, and would show an unfairness on their part, and a desire not to sell at competitive bidding, but to sell at private sale in the interest of their friends or somebody. But, up to that time, so far as their record disclosed, they were absolutely without fault. They had advertised the bonds, as required by the statute; they were there ready for competitive bids; there were no bids, the bonds, in the language of the statute, remained unsold; and that was all that was necessary to authorize them to sell at private sale.

We realize the full force and effect of the argument of counsel that since the terms of the statute, that are filed apparently to the letter, that is not sufficient. That we must get at the spirit of the law, and that the question is whether the purposes have been served. While the purposes were perhaps not served, it was the fault of the city, and not of the officers. Somebody beyond the committee, and bonds for less than they believed they were called upon to do the next thing to do was to sell them at private sale. Whether that made a good deal or a bad thing in such a case is not a question that and provided; and they did do that.

Now, having the right to make this sale of bonds at private sale (as we said), the fact that they proceeded with such haste as is not commendable in the opinion of this Court, yet we cannot condemn it because it was their business; they were clothed with discretion to dispose of the bonds as best they could, but with an honest discretion, and a discretion that they must exercise in good faith, and with an eye single to the interests of the people; they represented; and the fact that they moved with such alacrity in the sale of the bonds is not sufficient to attribute any particular intent to do wrong, yet it is a circumstance that counsel on the other side have a right to refer to and to handle as they desire for it, but it is not sufficient to show that there was any conspiracy or intent to do wrong; but, on the contrary, they were acting in good faith, and as they thought for the best interests of the parties concerned.

As to the dissolution of the injunction that had been obtained at the request of Vadakin: That is a matter that does not appeal to us as being a thing that ought to have been done. We think the solicitor should have walked into court and dismissed his suit if he thought there was nothing to it. And, so far as that is concerned, we think the solicitor was culpable in bringing that suit at all, unless he believed in it. It is true that solicitors in Ohio bring a great many suits that they think probably ought not to be brought, because of the fact that if they don't bring them some other attorney will, and the court allows large fees to be paid out of the public treasury and they feel that they ought to protect the treasury because they are paid for that sort of service, and they feel that they ought to represent the city in those suits. But that is a mistaken idea, we think. We think the solicitor ought to exercise discretion of his own in that behalf, and not bring a suit for every man who demands it. He must not do that sort of thing. If he rushes into court without any cause for it, the courts ought to be careful about handling the funds in the treasury to compensate him or his counsel.

So, if there was any culpability about that at all, it was in bringing the original suit, unless he believed in it. If he believed in it, he ought to have brought it. But, from his conduct in relation to it, we think he did not. Yet, that is not important at this time. The fact that the injunction was suspended by putting the entry on sustaining the demurrer and dismissing the petition, without the action of the court, does not commend itself very well to this court. But, it does not affect the other officers. It does not affect him, so far as that is concerned, except that it was unwise and an improper thing to do. It was a mistake of judgment, no doubt, on his part; but an officer or individual who represents the people must at all times do that thing which appeals to the public conscience, and that is supported by the public conscience, and ought to do it.

Passing that, we come to the next question: As to whether the consideration received for the bonds was so low as to show conspiracy or a want of good faith on the part of the officers. We are handicapped to some extent in determining the question as to what the bonds ought to be sold for from the fact that technical objections are raised to the answers in the depositions on both sides; but, from what we have before us, we think they were not sold for such an inadequate price as would show any moral turpitude on the part of the officers, or that there was any conspiracy against the interests of the people, or to favor any particular party or the expense of the taxpayers. We think the committee believed absolutely at the time they sold the bonds that they were receiving a good, fair, and liberal price for them, and we are not prepared to say from the evidence that they were not receiving with propriety the terms of the statute, that are filed apparently to the letter, that is not sufficient. That we must get at the spirit of the law, and that the question is whether the purposes have been served. While the purposes were perhaps not served, it was the fault of the city, and not of the officers. Somebody beyond the committee, and bonds for less than they believed they were called upon to do the next thing to do was to sell them at private sale. Whether that made a good deal or a bad thing in such a case is not a question that comes to this court. They may have made a poor bargain. That is not important. The question is, Has it that element in it that shows moral turpitude, or is it so grossly below the value as to show that there was a conspiracy or an intention on their part to defraud the taxpayers? Because, if they had the power to sell, they had the power to sell at what they believed to be right, or what they thought was the best price they could get, not less than par value and accrued interest; and the evidence as to what they received was admitted only for the purpose of reflecting upon their integrity or their motives and whether or not there was conspiracy or corruption in the case.

Now, we think this covers the entire case. Upon this latter question, as to the right to sell the bonds, the court is unanimous. The court is also unanimous as to the good faith of the officers making the sale. The court is also unanimous in the opinion that the price obtained was so nearly, if not quite, the full value of the bonds as to show no moral turpitude on their part; and we are also unanimous upon this question as to who should sell these bonds after the failure to sell at public sale. We are also unanimous that the advertisement, so far as these officers is concerned, was sufficient to authorize them to sell at public sale; while it did not, perhaps, accomplish all that the statute intended it should do, or that we might hope now, it should have done, yet it did put them in that position that there was no legal reason why they should go back and re-advertise those bonds. It may have been the better thing for them to do—

By John David Jones: "Could they do it?"

By Judge Donahue: "It is very doubtful whether they could do it. It follows as a logical sequence that the next thing for them to do, if the advertisement was according to the statute, the next and only thing for them to do was to proceed to sell at private sale."

By J. D. Jones: "That is logical—By Judge Donahue: 'Yes, sir; that is the logical sequence. That matter is only called to our attention now, and I only state my own opinion in reference to that; but, that is my judgment.'"

So, the judgment of this court is that the temporary injunction allowed by the common pleas court, or, by the probate judge, I believe it was, and dissolved by the common pleas court, shall be dissolved at the costs of the plaintiff.

NOTHING DEFINITE REGARDING ARREST OF EIGHT MEN.

Inspection of Company by Capt. Jada—Capt. Heisey's Command to be Improved.

No definite announcement is made regarding the eight privates of Co. G, who were arrested Tuesday for refusing to report for inspection, although it is understood that three or four of these parties will be court-martialed and charges preferred against them, while some of the men will be discharged.

The inspection of the company on Tuesday evening, by Capt. Jada, of the regular army, showed it to be in good condition.

All of the officers were present with the exception of one non-commissioned officer. Seven men were absent, four without leave. It is intended to reorganize the company in a way and get it in still better shape, Captain Heisey desiring a good strong company of reliable men, and the recent arrests are along this line.

SKELETON

In the Pulpit Startled College Students When Dr. Fisher's Threat Was Dramatized.

Madison, Ind., April 19.—When the classes at Hanover college assembled in chapel they were electrified to find a skeleton in the pulpit, the result of a students' prank, which officials of the college are trying to hush up. The affair grew out of the inadvertent mention in the college catalogue of the name of Dr. Daniel M. Fisher, the president, among the list of deceased presidents. Students wrote jokes on the walls about this, whereupon Dr. Fisher announced in chapel that the next desecrators would find his ghost waiting for them. This declaration was followed by the presence of the skeleton in Dr. Fisher's place Sunday morning. Placards covering the skeleton read: "Dr. Fisher—risen from the dead." "Easter Sunday in Hanover." "A college miracle." "With you in bone, if not in body." "Safe from the moth and rust."

The college officials are trying to stop the students' flow of humor.

GRANVILLE MAN

MR. SAMPLE ELECTED MODERATOR OF PRESBYTERY.

This is the First Time in Many Years That a Layman Has Presided Over Presbytery.

The Monday night session of the Zanesville Presbytery at Zanesville was opened with the average attendance of delegates.

After the devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. C. L. Alspach, the rest of the evening session was devoted to the very interesting talks by Rev. Harry Brokaw in charge of the Presbyterian Missions in Japan, and by Mr. David McConaughy of New York, secretary of the Presbyterian Forward Movement.

One of the most important events affecting the church locally was the election of Mr. John H. Sample of Granville, as moderator. This is the first time in many years that a layman has presided over the Zanesville Presbytery. He has been a ruling elder for twenty-six years and is in the employ of the Pennsylvania railway company.

Rev. Mr. Boyce of this city is the stated clerk.

The morning session was opened with devotional services, and following this was an earnest talk by Mr. McConaughy on the subject of Foreign Missions, explaining how necessary it is that the home churches should continue and increase their work in this country in order that their representatives in Japan and India may be able to carry out the good work they have undertaken.

After the address, Rev. G. R. Dickinson of Zanesville, and Rev. R. G. McClelland of Fredericktown were elected to represent the Zanesville Presbytery at Winona Lake this May, in the general assembly.

The afternoon was spent in the discussion of the home and foreign missions.
